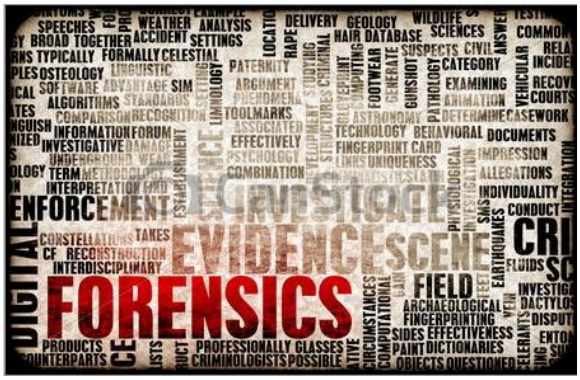
Max Courtney

"CSI: Fort Worth"

September 13, 2014



You know about CSI: New York and CSI: Miami from the television series. Join Max Courtney at the Billy W. Sills Center for Archives to learn about CSI: Fort Worth.

What role has forensic science - from finger prints to DNA - played in crime investigation and courtroom drama in the Fort Worth area? Max will present first a brief history of the development of forensic science. He then will examine several case histories in the Fort Worth area, including some well-known cases, to illustrate how these forensic techniques have been used locally.

Max Courtney has worked in forensic science for forty-five years and has participated in a number of high-profile cases. He has also worked as an educator (TCC, UTA, and Baylor) and is an amateur historian, as well. This is his third presentation at the Billy Sills Lectures.

Join us for coffee and "nibbles" beginning at 9:30 a.m.
