AGS Meeting TUESDAY, October 9th, 2018 6:30 P.M.

Our meetings are held in a Community Room at the new George W. Hawkes downtown library 100 South Center St. Arlington, TX. The Arlington Genealogical Society meets on the second Tuesday monthly from September through June. All visitors are welcome. All meeting rooms are equipped with Hearing Loop Technology, which allows those with telecoil equipped hearing aids to connect to the meeting room sound system.

Meeting Refreshments

Refreshment service begins at 6PM. The following Society members have volunteered to furnish refreshments for our October meeting; Quenna Cox, Margaret Roberson, Jeannie Schemensky, and Jeff and Kim Newman.

The October Meeting Program

AGS welcomes back, Sandra Crowley, who is a genealogist, author, and lecturer. Sandra grew up attending family reunions and developed a natural curiosity about her family history. She speaks at local, regional and national events.

Sandra's topic is Expose Holes in Your Family Tree with Timelines. Timelines are a great way to help tell your family story or serve as an effective research tool. Timelines can tell you relate to where people were and what they were doing at a particular point in time. They can also help you identify holes in your research. Sandra will show how to create a timeline and use it to effectively plan your next steps.

A Few Words from Your Society President

Last month's meeting was our first in the new George W Hawkes Central Library. Mark Dellenbaugh provided an overview of the Genealogy and Local History room and some of the features and tools available to patrons of the Library. Everyone seemed to enjoy spending some time learning about the room and key features, such as the electronic microfilm machine, which AGS donated, with the capability of sending copies of documents directly to your email or a thumb drive in the computer. Linda Seitz also provided a brief tour of the remainder of the library for those who wished to see the new building. Thank you Mark and Linda!

We have more interesting topics planned for the coming months. This month's meeting will feature Sandra Crowley presenting "Filling Holes in Your Research Using Time Lines". This should be a great topic about a tool we can use to shore up our research.

Our scheduled speaker for November is Roger Mills-Cobb presenting on DNA. Roger has spoken to us in the past and is passionate about his topic. In December our pot luck Christmas Party returns! The program in December will consist of members showing their research finds in a "Show and Tell" format. Details to follow! In January, we have Nancy Maxwell scheduled to present "Perusing PERSI (Periodical Sourcing Index) Meetings for October and November are currently scheduled in the "Excellence" room on the third floor of the library, near the Genealogy and Local History Room. The following meetings are currently scheduled for the [Re]brary Room on the first floor.

With opening of the new library, there is opportunities to volunteer to help man the Genealogy and Family History room during some hours of the day. All volunteers must be registered through the City of Arlington volunteer program. There is an online application available at volform LINK. The form is easy to complete, and response takes about 7-10 days.

We have received a request for assistance from the Arlington Historical Society regarding the Historic Cemeteries on Arkansas Lane. You will recall that AGS donated to the AHS for a section of fence at the historical Cemeteries, which is scheduled to be re-dedicated on October 20, 2018. The request for assistance is the form of research volunteers to perform genealogical research on each person buried in the cemetery. If you are interested in helping with this endeavor please visit with myself, Dorothy Rencurrel or Pete Jacobs for additional information.

The next scheduled board meeting for the AGS is set for October 13, 2018. The meeting will be at 9:00 a.m. in the Excellence Room on the third floor of the George W Hawkes Central Library.

I look forward to seeing everyone Tuesday, October 9, 2018 at our next meeting!

Steve Brown
President, Arlington Genealogy Association

AGS Board meetings:

The last AGS Board meeting took place Saturday morning, Sept 29th, 2018, in the Downtown Library Excellence room. Our next Board of Directors meeting is scheduled for Saturday morning, October 13th, at 9:30 AM in the downtown library Excellence room. The agenda will be announced by email. Committee News Collection Development, Mary Ann Conrad, Chair, asks members to keep in mind your genealogy reference needs have the ear of Mary Ann's committee. Share your research focus with the committee so they can book shop with your areas of interest in mind. A listing of genealogy reference books purchased during 2018 is appended at the end of this newsletter, see page seven.

Membership, Quenna Cox, Chair, we welcome our newest members, Ken & Shirley Wray. Our dues paying roll stands at 71 members with 39 individual and 16 family memberships. A membership form is appended as the last page of this newsletter and on our website.

Finance, Jeanne Rives, Chair, currently the 2019 AGS budget is our main focus with plans to call for a budget approval vote at the November members meeting.

Publicity, Pete Jacobs, Chair, the committee is always on the lookout for new material. When you encounter anything of genealogical interest don't hesitate sending the info our way. AGS Web Admin, John Anderson, posted on the AGS website photos page, a half dozen of Wally Goodman's photos taken during the September meeting and program.

General Genealogy Information

A program about Native American research is scheduled for 19 October at the APL Downtown Library. Read newsletter page four for the details. With that future program in mind here are some Genealib Listserv gleanings about Native American research.

Sarah K. writes: "Insofar as I know, there is not a single 'seminal' [reference] work. The resources available [vary] greatly from nation to nation. So, I'll refer you to my go-to source: the FamilySearch Wiki. Try searching by the name of the tribe". fswiki-LINK

Nancy C. writes: "Pay attention to the U.S. Census and what it lists as ethnic group and hopefully it will be I for Indian. The 1900 and 1910 Census has special forms for those claiming Native American ancestry. The top is just like the other census forms, but the bottom half lists tribe and other good information. Pay attention to the geographical area and learn what tribes lived in that area. The research is different for all the tribes since they had different records."

Those are two quotes from Librarians who serve Genealogy patrons. No matter what your ethnic back ground the APL downtown library is a great place to get a well-grounded start or assist with your family history research.

Online Genealogy Information

Have you visited the Genealogy Trails History Group website lately? It was brought online in 2000 with data focused on Illinois, and has grown by leaps and bounds over the past 18 years. Their stated purpose is "...to help you track your ancestors through time by transcribing genealogical and historical data for the free use of all researchers." Online at Genealogy Trails you will find family history data for all the US states and most counties. Visit gtrails-LINK, and explore their resources.

Do you have a future program suggestion or idea? Please share it with our AGS First Vice President, Dorothy Rencurrel.

September 2018 Program Summary

September's program featured, Mark Dellenbaugh, local history and genealogy librarian, who led a tour of the "Genealogy Reference Collection" at the new George W. Hawkes downtown Library. Mark gave an informative talk about the key features of the collection. He demonstrated the capabilities of the ScanPro digital microfilm reader scanners and the EnvisionWare document station large format scanner. Here are a couple photos taken by Wally Goodman during the tour.

Thanx Mark, for a valuable educational tour.

Arlington Heritage

Memorial Grounds (AHMG) Project

The Arlington Historical Society's ongoing initiative to Preserve Arlington's Historic Cemeteries on Arkansas Lane continues to gain momentum and donations. Plans for the three cemeteries include improved fencing, security, gravestone restoration, and an interactive tour. A Ground Penetrating Radar (GPR) study identified at least 33 areas thought to be unmarked graves. One of the partners is the Tarrant County Historic Commission which has a responsibility to overview such history related projects. Thus, the AHMG Project is a consortium consisting of Tarrant County and City of Arlington leaders and concerned citizens who wish to transform a neglected and endangered historical site into a powerful place of honor and education with a strong emphasis on what our citizens of color have endured. A research committee has been formed under the leadership of Dawn Youngblood, PhD, Tarrant County Historic Preservation and Archives Officer. Research has begun on exactly who is buried there and how much we can learn about each person. Recently Dr. Youngblood reached out to Steven Brown, AGS president, asking for the help from our society with the research aspects of the AHMG project such as helping the committee research each person buried in the cemetery. AGS was invited to send representatives to the next AHMG project steering committee meeting in the Arlington sub-courthouse on East. Abram St. The meeting is scheduled for October 12th and the AGS board named Dorothy Rencurrel and Pete Jacobs as the AGS members to attend.
