

Friday Freebie: Introduction to African American Genealogical Research

Do you need help with your African American genealogy? Via distance learning, Archivist Damani Davis, from The National Archives in Washington, DC will present "An Introduction to African American Genealogical Research." This is not a recorded program--you will be able to see/hear Damani and he will be able to see/hear you! This is definitely one program you will not want to miss! Please reserve your spot today!

Program given by

Damani Davis, Reference Archivist

Date: Friday, February 1st

Time: 12:00 noon-1:00 p.m.

Location: Montgomery Plaza
2600 W. 7th Street, Suite 162

Space is limited so reserve your spot today!

Email: ftworth.education@nara.gov

