

Finding Your World War I Relative

The National Archives at St. Louis holds millions of military and civilian personal data records, which can help you learn more about your ancestors' World War I service -- a few of them are even available online. Archivists Theresa Fitzgerald and Daria Labinsky will discuss the wealth of information available in Burial Case Files, Army Courts Martials, Deceased Veterans Claim Files, Official Military and Civilian Personnel

Program presented via video conference by:

Theresa Fitzgerald and Daria Labinsky, National Archives at St Louis

Date: Friday, November 7th, 2014

Time: 12:00 noon-1:00 p.m.

Location: Montgomery Plaza
2600 W. 7th Street, Suite 162

Space is limited so reserve your spot today!

Email: ftworth.education@nara.gov

