

Texas City

Shortly after nine o'clock am on Wednesday, April 16, 1947, the Port of Texas City, Texas, was engulfed in the flames and smoke of an explosion that could be felt miles away. To learn more about this major industrial disaster, join us for this lunchtime learning.

Program given by:

Joseph Ryan, Archives Technician

Date: Friday, December 1, 2017

Time: 12:00 noon-1:00 p.m.

Location: 1400 John Burgess Drive

Space is limited so reserve your spot today!

Email: ftworth.education@nara.gov

