Sheila Randolph is an Attorney in Fort Worth who has handled cases ranging from Misdemeanors to Capital Murder. A sixth-generation Texan, Sheila received her undergraduate degree from Emerson College in Boston in 1981 and her law degree from the University of Texas in Austin in 1985. While in law school, she was admitted to the American Journal of Criminal Law, and later became an Articles Editor for the AJCL. She has been an Assistant Criminal District Attorney, a TCLEOSE instructor for the Tarrant County District Attorney's Office investigators, and a Director of the Tarrant County Criminal Defense Lawyers Association. With the exception of the few years when she tried to become the next blues-singing sensation, Sheila has been practicing law since 1985. An avid genealogist, Sheila is a member of Julia Jackson 141 of the United Daughters of the Confederacy on the record of her 3rd-great grandfather Samuel Buffington, and an Auxiliary member of the Colonel William H. Griffin Camp of the Sons of Confederate Veterans. She also volunteers her time as the defense attorney for the Felony Alcohol Intervention Program, and is on the Community Advisory Committees for Tarrant County MHMR Addiction Services and Tarrant County Recovery Initiative (ROSC).
