INTRODUCTION TO HISPANIC GENEALOGY

Many of Judy's Hispanic ancestors traveled from Spain to present-day Mexico in the 17th century, and many of them settled the Rio Grande Valley in South Texas when it was still called Nueva Espana. Her ancestors moved to the Corpus Christi area in the 19th century. Two of Judy's ancestors received a Spanish land grant to settle the town of San Diego, Texas (outside Corpus Christi) in the late 18th century. Judy has found land grant documents that show that one branch of her family has owned land in the Rio Grande Valley since before the American Revolution; another branch was in present-day El Paso in 1598. Using her personal experiences, Judy created "Introduction to Hispanic Genealogy" to provide English speakers useful resources and tips to help others in their family history research.

JUDY RAMOS began genealogy research in the sixth grade. She is a member of 11 lineage organizations, including National Society Daughters of the American Revolution; National Society Sons and Daughters of Antebellum Planters 1607-1861; and Descendants of Texas Rangers. Judy received the Mamie Wynne Cox Historical Research Award from the Daughters of the Republic of Texas for her article on early Texas history, as well as the national Spirit of 1812 award for her series of genealogy articles about the War of 1812. Judy is a Corpus Christi, Texas native, but she has traced her roots around the globe through several family lines. Judy's professional background includes newspaper, television, and radio reporting, and she currently works in public relations. When she is not working on genealogy, Judy loves traveling, cooking, photography, and birding. She especially loves it when her family does these things together.
