January General Meeting

The Fort Worth Genealogical Society will begin the NEW YEAR with helping you learn some NEW ways to conduct on-line or computer data base searches.

We will meet on Tuesday evening, January 27th at 6:30 p.m. for a new topic entitled: "Techniques & Strategies for More Effective Online Searching." Our speaker will be Dr. Bernard N. Meisner.

As more and more genealogical material becomes available through the Internet it has become essential to make efficient searches to find the relevant information about your ancestors. One must not only know where to look for the information, but how to find it.

This presentation will cover how to determine what information is available, where it is located, and how to use search tools such as filters, wildcards, relationships, complementary data sources, and tailored search engines to improve the likelihood of finding what you need.

Bernard Meisner began researching his family over 25 years ago. He now enjoys sharing what he has learned.... the lessons and the mistakes he made.

He is a member of Mid-Cities Genealogical Society where he was a past president and is currently parliamentarian and social media chair.

Bernard's professional career was as a consulting meteorologist and he retired from the National Weather Service Southern Region Headquarters. He is a native of Pittsburgh, PA.

PLEASE JOIN US AS WE "KICK OFF" THE NEW YEAR! And invite a friend to come with you to hear this wonderful speaker.

From the President.....

Above is the Greek god Janus. He is namesake for the first month of the year, January. He has two faces-- to look ahead and to look behind. The New Year is always a time of New Beginnings and a time to reflect on the old year too. So here is a look back at what FWGS has done this past year:

FWGS made a $500.00 donation to the North Fort Worth Historical Society to help them in their preservation work. We conducted a very successful Summer Seminar with Lloyd Bockstruck as speaker. We also donated money to help the FWL to purchase a camera, tripod and other equipment for the purpose of digitizing records for patron use. With Footprints editor, Rob Yoder, we have produced and distributed 4 issues of Footprints for our members and libraries across the United States. FWGS conferred a Life Scholarship membership to Michael Patterson for his vast amount of scholarship of and preservation work on Civil War veterans and their monuments in Tarrant County. Then at the end of the year, we were able to take all the monies donated towards books and add to it, to make a donation of $500.00 to the FWL Genealogy unit in Bettye Richhart's memory. This is while continuing our 8 month schedule of Beginner's Workshops and Computer's Users Group meetings. (Thanks to Terri Meeks, Debbie Pearson, Don Crews, and Ed McCoy.) And, thanks also to Don Crews for presenting us with 11 wonderful speakers at General Meetings.

As you can see, FWGS is always busy. But, we could use some more help. We need YOU to become a member or keep your membership current. Dues are the society's main source of income to help in our preservation work. January is the start the NEW YEAR of membership in FWGS! Send in those dues and we welcome you to stand along with us in our work.

Editor: In the December newsletter I expanded on a series about the greatest genealogical resources or libraries in the US. I had to interrupt that series this month with big news from the two largest public libraries with genealogical collections in Tarrant County. Read on for more news from Fort Worth Library and the Arlington Public Library.

Fort Worth Library:

The Fort Worth Library is happy to inform you that the Tarrant County Tax Rolls have been digitized and made available for research.

Tarrant County, named after General Edward H. Tarrant, was founded in 1849 when it was carved out of neighboring Navarro County. In 1850, the first Tarrant County Tax Assessment was conducted by the Navarro County Tax Assessor, W.B. McCabe, since Tarrant County had not yet been officially organized. Later that same year, John A. Hust was elected as Tarrant County's first tax assessor. This collection consists of scanned microfilm images of the original tax ledgers from 1850-1880. A tax assessment for Tarrant County was conducted annually. In early years, some of the tax assessments were as few as six pages, but as the 1880s approached, the ledgers spanned over 200 pages.

You can view all of the Digital Archive collections in the Fort Worth Library Digital Archives at <http://fortworthtexasarchives.org/>.

Arlington Public Library:

George W. Hawkes Central Library of Arlington closed its doors December 23, 2014.

The Library at 101 E. Abram, stood in the heart of downtown Arlington for 40 years. Private developers plan to raze the library in February 2015 to make way for a $43 million mixed-use development featuring apartments, retail, restaurants, offices and shops in its place. Across the street, the city will build a larger library just north of City Hall that is expected to open by 2017.

A comprehensive study found that the existing 63,000 square-foot concrete and steel building needs millions of dollars in repairs, is no longer large enough and can't be expanded.

The Genealogy Collection is expected to be moved temporarily to the Northeast Branch Library, 1905 Brown Blvd., until the new library opens. Other library services will be distributed among the other branches.

Contact the library before you visit to be sure the transfer is complete and for More see:

Winter Weather

Just a Reminder! Winter has already started to become severe with a couple of ice events and plunging arctic temperatures and wind chills. Please remember that in the event of severe weather on the day of a FWGS scheduled event we follow: 1. FW Library closing schedules and 2. FWISD closing schedules. You can check our FWGS Facebook page or check the NBC channel 5 TV or web site for cancellations of meetings.
