February General Meeting

The February General Meeting will be on Tuesday evening, February 24th at 6:30 p.m. Our topic will be "Tarrant County Clerk: Keeper of the Records." And who better to speak on this topic than our own Tarrant County Clerk, Mary Louise Garcia.

Our Tarrant County Clerk is very forward thinking and is committed to keeping the office up to today's standards. She is trying to make more records available online and preserving some of the valuable old records. She will tell us of her latest efforts and explain how you might save yourself a trip down-town. You better be there so you can get started with those land deeds. Invite a friend to come!

Ms. Garcia is beginning her second term this January. Mary Louise comes from a law enforcement background and holds a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Criminology and Criminal Justice, Magna cum laude, from University of Texas-Arlington. A Fort Worth native, her most proud accomplishment is being mother to two beautiful daughters in college.

FW Library News

The Archives staff & volunteers have updated one collection and processed one new collection. These two collections are ready for access in the Central Library Archives:

- YWCA Collection
- Jeannie Yarbrough Papers

New Book

Texas Women, Their Lives, Their Loves. Ruth Karbach, a past speaker, has a story inside on Dr. Ellen Lawson Dabbs, an early FW doctor. Go see!

The "Shifting" Project

.....at the Genealogy Unit is still in progress. It seems work will continue into February. Go see if you can still find your favorite collections as they expand their shelving.

County Tax Rolls Online!

The Fort Worth Library is happy to inform you that the Tarrant County Tax Rolls have been digitized and made available for research.

January Meeting

Bernard Meisner helped start the New Year with an inspiring new presentation on how to make better internet searches. There are so many databases full of information yet the indexers were not perfect when they indexed those collections. Compound that with the fact that humans often wrote down our ancestor's information incorrectly. Often a fix is to check more than one database. (Ancestry is not the only one who has indexed the census; FamilySearch and Heritage Quest are 2 others.) Sometimes you need to overcome the misspellings by using wild cards in your search. Go back and reanalyze what you know and then do your homework. Check to see what records are available in the area of your search. See if there are guides or Wikis to help you learn more. Bernard showed us many examples where he overcame the search engine and found his man!

From the President.....

Happy Valentine's Day! FWGS Loves You!

But are you still working on those New Year's Resolutions? Well here are some resolutions for genealogy from Michael J. Leclerc of Mocavo. He published his "5 Things Every Genealogist Should Do in 2015" back in January and I thought they were worth repeating:

1. Take A Class (Never stop learning.)
2. Review Past Research (You know more now & more records may have been published.)
3. Attack Challenges (Like Nike, Just DO IT! Priorities)
4. Share Your Genealogy (it will live on & you may get some help or answers to those problems.)
5. Get a Genealogy Partner (More hands/More eyes/More results)

Guess What? FWGS can help you with all 5 of those suggestions. We offer opportunities every month, all through the year for classes, meeting people, and tips for solving problems. We plan a Summer Seminar every year, we have speakers every month on great topics, and we sponsor beginner's classes and computer interest sessions. We also publish a journal and guess what, you can even share your genealogical journeys and queries about Tarrant county there. You can also post questions on line at our web site or our Facebook page. What's not to LOVE? We just need YOU. Renew or Join today!

NEWS FROM ANCESTRY:

The following is from Ancestry CEO Tim Sullivan. It appeared on their web site in January, but has been edited for space:

Last year, we launched more than 2 billion new global records, helping fuel discoveries in over 67 countries. Nearly half a million people took an AncestryDNA test to learn about their unique ethnic mix and to connect to hundreds ... or even thousands of newfound genetic cousins. And more people than ever enjoyed the convenience of discovering and sharing their stories on the go with the Ancestry mobile app.

Good News: 2015 promises to be one of the most exciting in our own family history.

In the coming months, we'll be introducing features that let you tell richer, more personal life stories about your ancestors, adding historical context around the times and events that shaped their lives. You'll also see a new way to engage with other Ancestry members around a shared ancestor, helping you make new discoveries and collaborate like never before. If you've taken a DNA test, you'll experience some new types of discoveries made possible by the groundbreaking DNA science and research teams. And everyone who visits Ancestry will find a simplified, easier-to-use site that puts important information front and center to make family stories the focus.

Most importantly, we will continue to add to the world's largest online collection of family history records and content. Look for exciting additions like 170 million searchable images of probate records and wills that might reveal your ancestor's dying wishes, all vital records from Virginia since 1900, substantial releases from Germany, and a milestone collection of almost 80 million Mexico Civil Birth, Marriage and Death records spanning from 1860 to modern day.

At Ancestry, we're proud of all that we do to help you bring your family story to life. We think that this year's new content and features are going to make the world's leading online family history service even better....TIM
